Retaligent Solutions, Inc to
Host AMR Research Webinar about
“Advanced Selling Technologies “

ATLANTA, GA, March 18, 2008. Retail software company Retaligent Solutions, Inc. (“Retaligent”) today announced they will be hosting a one-hour Webinar featuring Rob Garf, VP & General Manager Retail Strategies of AMR Research on Wednesday, March 19th at 11.00PT/2.00ET.

Retaligent and AMR Research will discuss market trends and provide industry insight on how retailers are successfully using Advanced Selling Technologies to enhance the overall customer experience, improve associate productivity and grow top line revenue. “We are delighted to participate in this important industry discussion and honored that AMR’s Rob Garf is sharing some of his insights from their latest survey” said Bryan Amaral, CEO of Retaligent. “Improving the customer experience is a top concern for many of today’s retailers. This webinar is a way for Retaligent to help these companies work through the questions and challenges of implementing new technology to differentiate the customer experience and grow their business.” said Amaral.
