Retaligent Solutions, Inc. Sponsors WomensWear Daily CEO Retail/Apparel Summit 2009

ATLANTA, GA, November 6, 2009. Retail software company Retaligent Solutions, Inc. (“Retaligent”) is sponsoring the WomensWear Daily CEO Summit in New York November 9-10, 2009. Over 200 CEOs and global retail leaders will come together for two days of networking, information gathering, and collaboration of the most pressing challenges facing their businesses.

“Retaligent is honored to again be a sponsor of this prestigious event and we see this as a unique opportunity to have a dialogue about topics most important to our customers.” said Bryan Amaral, CEO of Retaligent. “This is undoubtedly a time of great transition for the retail industry. This forum represents an opportunity for retail leaders to share their insights, successes as well as recent challenges as they endeavor to re-ignite their businesses and transform their in-store customer experience.” said Amaral. “We are pleased that so many of our customers will be in attendance at the Summit and that our Clienteling and Assisted Selling solutions continue to be recognized as a proven way to accelerate sales performance and differentiate the customer experience.” For more information about the event being held November 9-10, 2009 at the New York St. Regis Hotel, please visit <http://www.WWD.com>.
